COAST CLIPPINGS.

Coal has been found near Joliet, Monterey county.

Lake county farmers report flattering crop prospects.

A decision in the Richmond-Albion mining case is expected soon.

Among the importing cities of America San Francisco ranks third.

White Pine people talk of moving the county seat from Hamilton to Chey Creek.

A large tract of land in Sulphur Valley, Alameda county, is to be planted to grapes this season.

Daniel Payson of the Mission San Jose, was kicked by a horse and severely injured a few days ago.

The colored population of Nevada is less than 400. There are 5,416 Chinese and 2,803 Indians in the State.

The revival meetings held in Carson for the past three weeks resulted in the conversion of twenty-two people.

Near Lincoln, Placer county, Saturday, Miss Hall, aged fourteen, accidentally shot and killed her little brother.

Cold weather still prevails near Hollister. On Tuesday night about three hundred lambs perished from cold on Craggan's ranch.

During the month of January, Det. coto Station, Alameda county, forwarded 194,205 pounds of salt, and 5,715 sacks of corn and barley.

Salinas farmers and stockmen are again hopeful, and with moderate rains during the rest of the season are confident of a prosperous year.

A. B. Woods, aged twenty, committed suicide Saturday night at Colusa, by shooting himself twice in the head. Woods was the son of Judge Woods of Yolo, recently deceased.

Last week Christopher Arrow's house at the mouth of Empire Creek, Siskiyou county, caught fire. There were ten men asleep in the house at the time. They barely escaped with their lives.

Four Eastern companies are operating placer claims on Snake river near the ferry of the Kelton Stage Co.'s line, Idaho. Some portions of the gravel taken out and shipped East, panned out very rich.

The University regents of Washington Territory, Saturday, passed resolutions thanking Henry Villary for his recent gift of one thousand dollars to that institution and his promise of more. The regents have undertaken to raise fifteen hundred dollars more to repair and refurbish the school building.

The Omaha Bee remarks that the completion of the Oregon short line to Pueblo, at which point it will cross the Utah and Northern, will shorten the distance to Montana 75 to 100 miles. The short line is a standard gauge road, but a third rail will be laid, which will make the Granger the practical terminus of the Utah and Northern for certain business.

A white coyote, captured last week near Monterey, is now attached to the Woodward's Gardens menagerie and is considered a great curiosity; but it is not. Coyotes often turn white in winter, and they have only to offer a small reward in some Nevada papers and white coyotes will come down C. O. D. in such abundance that the advertisements will soon be stopped by telegram.—Report.

PHILOSOPHY IN POLITICS.

The American people have the faculty of organization so wonderfully developed that they are all natural politicians. They take to it like ducks to water, and get as wild as March hares on every little issue that comes up. There is usually too much feeling engendered by party strife, and it is unheathy and unwise. People should remember that when one politician denounces another he is serving himself first and the people after. That it is business for him to make a handle of whatever prejudice may be uppermost and turn it as a whip on the opposite party. A great many office-seekers, and nearly every party platform, make all kinds of promises on all kinds of subjects simply to catch votes. We frequently hear men of the most ordinary attainments pledge themselves to settle questions that have puzzled the wisest men of the age. Every one who wants an office advertises that he is the honest and wise man who cannot be bought or beguiled. He knows just how to settle the Chinese question, the Silver question, the National Bank question, the Railroad question, and all the troubles of the times. This is simply boosh, and the people ought to know it. It is well to be calm in politics as well as in business, for it leads to wiser counsels and better results.

THE "BEE'S" BIRTHDAY.

There was much wit and great good feeling on the occasion of the Sacramento Bee's twenty-fifth birthday. A large company sat down to dinner. Letters were read from Jackson of the Post, M. H. De Young of the Chronicle, Loring Pickering, B. R. Redding, a former partner of Mr. McGlatchy, and others. W. H. Mills, of the Record-Union, proposed the toast of the evening, and Mr. McGlatchy of the Bee responded. He returned thanks to Mr. Mills, and said if he ever differed with the Record it was because the Bee was right and the Record wrong. Mills said: "Whether we have been sweetened by the Bee's honey or wounded by its sting, we have always been able to exercise toward it the sublime charity of the prayer: 'Father, forgive them—they know not what they do.'" [Laughter and applause.]

If Miss Nellie Parkinson could repeat her concert at Reno the GAZETTE would work hard to get her a good house. She is struggling to educate herself. A worthy cause.

Actions to See Booth.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 6.

A disgraceful scene was enacted in the Grand Opera House here to-day at the hour appointed for sale of tickets to Booth's entertainment. An immense assemblage filled the street and sidewalk. Arrangements had been made by which the crowd was to go in detail, but the jam was such that the large doors gave away with a crash, and the crowd rushed in, pell-mell, yelling at the top of their voices. Men were run over and trampled, faces bruised, arms broken and backs picked. Seats were upturned and the stage was packed with a crowd forcing postponement of the sale until to-morrow.

A Corpse Held for Security.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, IOWA, Feb. 7.

A week ago last Tuesday the body of Wm. G. Murray, who died in San Francisco, was received in this city. The remains were accompanied by two women, who have refused to pay the transportation charges from this place to New York, and consequently the body remains here waiting the payment of such charges. On the coffin box appears the name of Wm. G. Murray, in care of James Fogarty, Forty-third street, New York City. If the body is not claimed by Wednesday next it will be buried in the Potter's Field.

Neither to be Admired.

NEW YORK, February 7.

From expressions dropped by a member of the Elections Committee in private conversation, it appears altogether probable that the Committee will report against the administration of either Campbell or Cannon.

The Ryan and Sullivan Prize Fight—Sullivan Wins.

MISSISSIPPI CITY, Miss., Feb. 7.

Trains from New Orleans with people to witness the fight between Ryan and Sullivan arrived here about 11 o'clock. The crowd consisted of sporting men from all sections of the country and many prominent citizens of New Orleans.

A large number of newspaper correspondents, representing prominent papers of the North and West, were also in attendance.

Sullivan arrived on the ground at 10:30 and took a room at the hotel opposite Ryan, within a hundred feet of the ring, which was pitched in front of Barnes' Hotel, in a grove of live oaks.

Sullivan cast his cap into the ring at 11:45 by the Judge's time, amid great enthusiasm. One hundred to eighty was accepted on Sullivan. Sullivan was seconded by Billy Madson, Joe Goss, and Arthur Chamber. Ryan entered the ring at 11:57, amid enthusiastic cheers, accompanied by Tom Kelley and Johnny Rosch.

Ryan won the choice of corners, and took the southwest corner. Sullivan has the sun in his face. The men are ready to commence business, but there is a difficulty about referee. Both parties agree on James D. Houston, of New Orleans, who refused to act. Charles Bush also refused.

The dispute over referee has been settled by choosing Alex Brewster, of New Orleans, and Jack Hardy, of Vicksburg jointly.

Ryan just beat Sullivan one thousand dollars, which was promptly accepted by Sullivan.

At 1 o'clock the first round and first knock down for Sullivan.

Second round—After a considerable struggle the men clinched, Sullivan being thrown by Ryan. Blood for Sullivan.

Third round ended in Ryan being knocked down by Sullivan.

Fourth round Sullivan knocked down in Ryan's corner.

Fifth round, after clinching, Sullivan was thrown by Ryan.

Sixth round, Ryan fairly knocked down by Sullivan.

Seventh round, after sharp fighting, both being severely punished, they fell together.

Eighth round, Ryan was knocked out of time by Sullivan.

In the ninth round Ryan failed to come to time, and the fight was decided in favor of Sullivan.

Time of fight, twenty-six minutes.

[SECOND DISPATCH.]

MISSISSIPPI CITY, February 7.

The fight to-day was very severe. The men took the scratch and shook hands at just 2 minutes before 12. They sparred cautiously, and Ryan led with his right, which fell short, catching in return a hot one from Sullivan's left on the face. Exchanges then became short and quick. Sullivan finally knocked him down with a severe right-hander on the cheek. Time 30 seconds.

Second round—Sullivan at once rushed to his man and let go his left, which caught Ryan on the jaw. Ryan closed with him, and they wrestled for a fall, which Ryan won, falling heavily on his opponent. Time, twenty-five seconds.

Third round—The men came together with a rush, and Sullivan, after making three passes, knocked Ryan down with a terrible right-hander on the chest. Time, four seconds.

Fourth round—The men sparred for perhaps a second or two, both feinted, and then Sullivan went for Ryan's face, putting in stinging blows square on his nose before they closed. Slugging then commenced and continued until Ryan was forced into the ropes, when he went to grass. Time, twenty-five seconds.

Fifth round—This was a repetition of the fourth round. Both men closed and put to their best backs, the attack of both being confined to the face. The fight will be beyond doubt a grand one for the time it will last, but the opinion seems to be general that it will not last long, as neither of the men can withstand the power of the blows they will have to receive from each other. Half an hour, at most, is that allowed by the trainers of the men as the time for the battle to last, and each is sanguine that his charge will win in that time.

Sixth round—Sullivan went up smiling, but it was evident he was not only smiling but was somewhat afraid of his antagonist. Sullivan lost time, but went in to win. Ryan, however, closed and downed him.

Seventh round—The men closed and struggled continued for a few seconds, when Ryan went to grass a wreck. Sullivan came to his corner smiling. Ryan, however, had the grit to come up for another round.

Eighth round—The men came up promptly. Ryan was decidedly weak but made a gallant struggle. Sullivan fought him all over the ring and into the umpire's corner, and over the ropes. Getting off the ropes he rallied, but went down on a knee and hand. A foul was looked for, but though Sullivan had his hand raised to strike, he restrained himself. As Ryan rose both men were returning to their corner, when the seconds of each cried, "Go for him!" and the men responded. They closed and clinched, and after a short struggle both went down.

Last round—Ryan came up groggy, and Sullivan at once forced him into his corner, delivering one heavy blow, but Ryan recovered and drove Sullivan out, and just beyond the middle of the ring Sullivan had a right-hander under the left ear, and Ryan went down senseless. When time was called Ryan did not respond, and the fight was declared in favor of Sullivan, amid great cheering.

Ryan and Sullivan were visited after they had gone to their quarters. Ryan was lying in an exhausted condition on his bed and very badly disfigured about the face. His upper lip was cut through and his nose disfigured. He did not move, but lay panting. Stimulants were given him to restore him. He is terribly punished about the head. At the conclusion of the fight Sullivan ran to his quarters at a lively gait, and laughingly and good-naturedly laid down for a while a little out of wind, but there was not a scratch on him. He chatted pleasantly with his friends. The fight was short, sharp and decisive on Sullivan's part throughout. Ryan showed weariness after the first round.

Uncertain Author.

NEW YORK, February 7.

A Tribune's editorial says: The account given in Washington of the way the instructions to Trescott were considered and amended by President Arthur disposes of the silly story that he was not fully aware of their purport, and approved them. It appears the document was twice read to him. At the first reading he made four alterations in it, and suggested the addition of another paragraph, which Blaine himself wrote. After hearing the instructions read as thus amended he gave them his unqualified approval. Furthermore, their general scope was the subject of a conversation between the President and Trescott before they were put upon paper, and the sentence which Fralinghuyzen afterward made his text, after revoking the dispatch, was written by Trescott after that conversation, and not by Blaine. Nothing now remains to be said about the remarkable change which came over our diplomacy after Fralinghuyzen succeeded Blaine, except that the President altered his mind all of a sudden. A bold and possibly a too aggressive policy, for which the President was responsible was converted into one of timid and retreating conservatism. Perhaps Blaine made a mistake in too vigorously opposing the annexation of Peruvian territory by Chile, but his policy was Arthur's policy up to the time he left the State department, and it was not in all respects wise. Arthur was fully committed to it. We have not heard any good excuse for the conduct of the Administration in blowing hot and cold upon a question of grave diplomatic importance in the short space of two months.

The dispute over referee has been settled by choosing Alex Brewster, of New Orleans, and Jack Hardy, of Vicksburg jointly.

Sixth round—Sullivan went up smiling, but it was evident he was not only smiling but was somewhat afraid of his antagonist. Sullivan lost time, but went in to win. Ryan, however, closed and downed him.

Seventh round—The men closed and struggled continued for a few seconds, when Ryan went to grass a wreck. Sullivan came to his corner smiling. Ryan, however, had the grit to come up for another round.

Eighth round—The men came up promptly. Ryan was decidedly weak but made a gallant struggle. Sullivan fought him all over the ring and into the umpire's corner, and over the ropes. Getting off the ropes he rallied, but went down on a knee and hand. A foul was looked for, but though Sullivan had his hand raised to strike, he restrained himself. As Ryan rose both men were returning to their corner, when the seconds of each cried, "Go for him!" and the men responded. They closed and clinched, and after a short struggle both went down.

Last round—Ryan came up groggy, and Sullivan at once forced him into his corner, delivering one heavy blow, but Ryan recovered and drove Sullivan out, and just beyond the middle of the ring Sullivan had a right-hander under the left ear, and Ryan went down senseless. When time was called Ryan did not respond, and the fight was declared in favor of Sullivan, amid great cheering.

Ryan and Sullivan were visited after they had gone to their quarters. Ryan was lying in an exhausted condition on his bed and very badly disfigured about the face. His upper lip was cut through and his nose disfigured. He did not move, but lay panting. Stimulants were given him to restore him. He is terribly punished about the head. At the conclusion of the fight Sullivan ran to his quarters at a lively gait, and laughingly and good-naturedly laid down for a while a little out of wind, but there was not a scratch on him. He chatted pleasantly with his friends. The fight was short, sharp and decisive on Sullivan's part throughout. Ryan showed weariness after the first round.

NEW YORK, February 7.

Oscar Wilds lectured here last night on English Renaissance. He was greeted by a fair audience, composed of the best people. He received scarcely any marks of approval, either on entering or leaving the platform.

Not an exciting Lecture.

UTICA, February 7.

Trains from New Orleans with people to witness the fight between Ryan and Sullivan arrived here about 11 o'clock. The crowd consisted of sporting men from all sections of the country and many prominent citizens of New Orleans.

A large number of newspaper correspondents, representing prominent papers of the North and West, were also in attendance.

DIED.

BRISTOW—In Reno, Feb. 6th, 1882, of typhoid fever, Frank Lewis, son of C. D. and M. W. Bristow, aged four years and eight months.

The Gem Hotel.

Travelers will find no nicer place in Nevada to put up at than the Palace hotel on the corner opposite the railroad depot. The house is new, elegant and convenient. Everything is done to make it homelike and cheerful. Al. White is constantly on hand to receive the hosts of acquaintances constantly passing from all parts of the coast. Frank Perkins is exactly suited to the profession of host. He is a very pleasant gentleman and wins the friendship of strangers at once. He is well posted on the town, and knows just where to find entertainment for anyone who is fond of sport. The manager, John Fitzgerald, looks after everything and knows what everyone connected with the house is doing. He has been a long time in the business, and is the right man in the right place.

Judgment Awarded.

The remittitur from the Supreme Court in the case of Bunting and Harrison vs. the Central Pacific Railroad Company, came down from Carson this morning, affirming the decree of the lower court. The lower court gave Harrison a judgment for $500 and cost, $884.55; costs of appeal $13.56; and Bunting a judgment of $2,000 and cost, $26.40; cost of appeal, $15.43. The plaintiffs commenced action to recover from the railroad company damages sustained by being run into by the local express train three or four years ago, while they were crossing the track at the Sierra street crossing.

The Weather.

Prof. Legato says the predicted thaw will soon commence. It will be very gratifying to the Water Company as well as the family man. Nearly every pipe in the city is frozen. Married men say it is extremely exhilarating to be kicked out of bed early in the morning, knock the skin off of his right thumb joint cutting handling with a small knife, then tackle the teakettle and a rag-bag preparatory to removing the ice from the pipes.

Rejuvenated.

H. H. WARNER & Co.—Sirs: For twenty years I have been afflicted with liver complaint. I tried various remedies, but received no benefit until I commenced the use of your Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, which gave me permanent relief.

EDWIN A. CASTOR.

Building Up Business.

T. Barnett has been doing an excellent business all winter, and is prepared to hold his own. He has an excellent business manager in Mark Barnett, who is attentive and careful in all his dealings. The house is extending and worthy of confidence.

Pulling Together.

There will be a meeting of Carson business men and taxpayers in general in a few days for the purpose of considering the best method for prospecting the surrounding hills for gold and silver. So says Parkie.

Traveling West Markets.

L. B. Washburn runs a butcher wagon from Millford to Janesville every Thursday. He sells only the choicest meat.

BAD DEATH.

Two Men Suffocated by Escaping Gas At the Depot Hotel.

H. M. Higgins and Thomas Rowett, two miners recently discharged from the Sutro tunnel, came down from Virginia on the train last evening, registered at the Depot Hotel, and retired to their room at 9:30, both occupying the same bed. The Chinaman called them at 6 o'clock this morning, but receiving no response, and smelling gas, called the night clerk, Wm. Gilliss, who opened the window from the outside, and going in found Higgins dead and Rowett nearly gone from asphyxia. The man blew out the gas instead of turning it off. It seems strange, too, for they could not have reached the jet to blow it out without standing on a chair, besides each burner has a card attached to it that reads, "Turn off the gas" and they must have seen the card. Dr. Bergman was immediately summoned, and did everything possible for the relief of the dying man, but it was of no avail. Rowett died at 8 o'clock this morning. They were both young men of about 30 years of age and unmarried. The unfortunate young men are said to have been of exceptionally good character, and highly esteemed by all who knew them. Their remains were taken to Virginia on the train this afternoon. No blame can be attached to Mr. Chamberlain, the proprietor of the hotel, or any of his employees. The Coroner held an inquest on the bodies of the deceased at 10 o'clock to-day, and the jury returned a verdict in accordance with the above facts.

Personal.

Mrs. Vasey is going East soon.

C. J. Brookins went below last night. G. F. Clough left this morning for Boston.

Mrs. B. F. Small came to Reno, this morning.

Murphy Dunham, photographer, has returned from Wadsworth.

J. C. Wemple, one of Honey Lake's largest ranchers, is in Reno.

Bobby McGinley is playing black opera at Bieker and Adin this week.

L. H. Washburn of Milford, one of the largest apple raisers in Honey Lake valley, is in town.

The N. S. A. M. & M. Society holds its annual meeting February 20th. It should be well attended, as it will be an important meeting.

Miss Eva Kieff and Jones Dulien Burill were married in Greenwood, Eldorado county, Cal., last week.

Funny Features.

Emerson's Minstrels are here in full force. They all answered to the roll-call, and there will be a first-class show to-night. The genial Billy is in the best of spirits, and his bugle voice is all in tune. He will give his best songs and imitations, and nobody can be funnier than he. The company is excellent. Billy Mack, the end-man opposite Emerson, is one of the greatest attractions now on the stage. He is entirely original, and makes any amount of fun. The other parts are all in good hands. Dixon, who introduced "Baby Mine," is one of the singers, and there are olog dancers, banjo players, stump speakers and all kinds of funny features.

The Golden Wheel Mine.

This claim, in which very rich indications are being found, was located by Mr. Milich, and is owned by him. It is situated about six hundred feet south of, and running parallel with, the J. & K. He has a shaft about 80 feet deep, and has a cross-cut in the walls each way. He found well-reduced walls on each side of the ledge, of clay, fully three inches thick, and for the depth it is the best showing ever made in the camp.

No Decision Yet.

It is not true, as reported, that the Supreme Court has decided that the Nevada Orphan Asylum is not entitled to a proportion of the State funds for the care of orphans, on the ground that the Asylum is a sectarian institution. The Chronicle yesterday received a telegram from Carson stating that no decision in the matter has yet been rendered by the Supreme Court.

Asylum Matters.

The contractors are pushing the work, and will have the building ready within the forty days extra time given them. They have ten carpenters, seven plasterers, three painters and three common laborers at work now. The plastering will be completed by Thursday.

Brook trout from Independence lake go through to Virginia. Why cannot Reno merchants stop a few? People here like them.

"While playing a star engagement through New England," writes Wm. Davidge, "I contracted severe rheumatism. St. Jacobs Oil was recommended. I used it as ordered, and was cured in four days, and have had no return of the ailment."

Piper's Enterprise.

The Enterprise says Piper has made a great improvement in the Opera House, by which he is able to make it perfectly comfortable, even if the thermometer went to 40° below zero. It is worth something to have public buildings in the hands of men who are willing to do the fair thing by their patrons.

The Order of H. K.

This is a protective and benevolent order, which now has a branch on this coast. It is the American adaptation of the English Order of Buffaloes. It has many literary, lights and theatrical stars among its members. It is a secret society, much like Masons or Odd Fellows.

Roll of Honor.

The roll of honor of Bishop Whittaker's School for Girls, for the month ending February 1st, is as follows:

May Beuhau 99, May Cara 98.5, May

Ennor 97.2, Isabel Osborn 97.1, Armenia Grippo 97, Carrie Webb 96.3.

O. W. Whittaker, Principal.

Old Settler Gone.

Wm. Krause died yesterday in Virginia. He has lived there nineteen years. He leaves a wife and child. He was a native of Prussia and much respected. The estate is quite large.

Where He Can Be Found.

You can generally find him at Chase & Thye's saloon on Virginia street drinking Hub Punch or eating New England baked beans.

County Commissioners.

The Board met yesterday and sat all day, adjourning over until this morning. They rejected all bids for the care of the indigent poor and sick.

Mrs. Negley was granted $15, Mrs. Hill $10, Mrs. Fay $10 and Mrs. Clancy $10 relief.

The deficiency of $2,800 of B. B. Norton was settled by the Board accepting $2,000. The resignation of R. Drought, J. P. of Wadsworth, was accepted.

They found 10 gold coins, $23,200; silver coin, $1,416.26; warrants paid, $103.85; Reno Savings Bank, $2,900; total, $37,380.11, in the Treasury.

The Board allowed the following
